

Visit the Osa

CFC #75097

Experience the unparalleled beauty of Costa Rica's natural treasure

Visit our field sites in the Osa Peninsula

Our biological field stations offer a unique experience to travellers, students and researchers alike.

Nestled in primeval rainforest and a short walk from pristine beaches, Osa Conservation's campus is the perfect place for birdwatching, hiking, kayaking, yoga, and more. At our stations, you'll get to participate in our conservation efforts and help researchers study the ecology of the most biologically intense place on earth.

For more information, contact laurenlipuma@osaconservation.org

